

Hoddesdon, March 24th 186.

Dear Cousin,

On the perusal of your letter I felt much satisfaction in finding that you perceived I had made some improvement in my writing, & as I am fully persuaded that you sincerely wish for my being accomplished I shall endeavour in every respect to please you, by doing that which lies in my power to improve in every branch, which my Uncle desires I should be acquainted with. You may depend I shall not forget the good advice you give me, on the choice of my companions.

Pray give my duty to my Mother, Uncle & Aunts, with kind respects to Mr. Purss, & love to my Sisters & Cousins,

My Brother is very well, & joins me in love to you.

I remain,

Dear Cousin,

Yours affectionately,

Henry Taylor

My dear Mother is very well. I am in the land of the living

I remain

Your affectionate

son

Henry Taylor
