MS/3/18

My Dear Madam,

I have to entreat your excuse for my seeming neglect in not making an earlier reply to your last letter, but I have been waiting to procure a Frank, however, I find it useless, therefore shall only say a few lines which is to assure you your Brother and myself will be happy to see you soon as possible together with your Son, on your arrival at Gravesend you will be kind enough to go to the White Hart, your Brother will leave word for them to see you in a Coach we would meet you did we know the exact time to expect you, but that impossible, present our affectionate remembrance

To Mr. Johnston, and little ones, in full expectation of seeing you shortly, and that you may have a pleasant and speedy voyage I remain

Dear Madam

Yours Affectionately

Ann Taylor

June 7th 1804

The Coach will put you down at our door, if you will name your Brother Distiller (late Troy) pray advise us when you leave Thompkins
